Thanks, I wish I was a water colorist to realize that vision of him. By the way if you come across a photograph send it to me. We'd like to include it in our newsletter as well. I think including Virginia is more appropriate for the life changes bit so please use the following:

Louis Saso a man who lived his dream with abiding integrity and passion. Who with his loving and loyal wife, Virginia (who succeeds him), took the risk of a lifetime, dropped everything midstream to grow one of the greatest home herb gardens whose memory continues to inspire a generation of herbalists. Their life journey epitomizes all that is poetry and goodness along the way of herbs.

I envision him led by dancing nature spirits, be-wreathed spirit herbalists, dancing, singing cavorting along a path lined with colorfully fantastical trees, and magical plants all the way up to heaven. Our spirits and love go with you, paisan.

*Dear Virginia,
I've written these thoughts
for a memorial -- Kathi will let you know more about it.*
